

About Domestic Violence

Domestic violence is a pattern of abusive behaviors used by one partner in an intimate relationship to control the other.

It can include physical, psychological, verbal, sexual, and/or financial abuse. It is always about power and control.

It is estimated that 1 in 4 women will be victimized in her lifetime. Domestic violence is a public health, criminal, and social issue that affects us all.

We all have a role in preventing and ending domestic violence.

How to Get Help

If you or someone you know is in an abusive relationship, contact your local domestic violence hotline to learn about available options and services. Their trained advocates help victims create confidential, personalized safety plans.

Supporting Membership

Supporting membership is open to individuals, organizations, and businesses who would like to help prevent and end domestic violence. Your tax deductible contributions support DCADV's public information, advocacy, and policy reform efforts on behalf of victims of domestic violence and their children.

In addition to financial support, Supporting Membership shows the community and policy makers that there is wide support for the Coalition's mission and programming.

Visit our Members and Partners webpage for an online membership form and a printable form. Various forms of payment are accepted.
